The Crowning Touch

Hundreds of years ago, maraschino cherries were preserved in liqueur and considered a very rare and luxurious treat- reserved only for royalty and elite. In 1929, Oregon State University horticulturist Ernest Weigand invented the current process for making alcohol-free, crunchy-sweet maraschino cherries. Since then Oregon Cherry Growers' maraschino cherries have become a tradition, bringing this once royal offering to everyone's table.
