

AMARENA-STYLE CHERRIES

Fact Sheet

Amarena is a specific variety that is grown in Italy. It is a stemless, blueberry-sized, tart cherry, which is packed in a dark, molasses-like syrup. Pacific Coast Producers has produced a similar item using small sweet cherries domestically grown in the Pacific Northwest. Because Pacific Coast Producers' product is not imported from Italy, it must be identified as Amarena-Style.

Royal Harvest™ Amarena-Style Cherries have a profound depth of flavor - fruit forward and pleasingly tart, balanced with a hint of warm spices. The cherry's deep color is almost black; its syrup the consistency of maple syrup. The cherry's texture delivers a uniquely positive, appealing mouth feel experience compared to classic maraschinos.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

Are Royal Harvest™ Amarena-Style Cherries natural?

Royal Harvest™ Amarena-Style Cherries do not contain preservatives, synthetic colors, artificial flavors, HFCS, corn syrup, sodium, sulfites, or trans fats.

Why choose Royal Harvest™ Amarena-Style Cherries?
